

Thoti is a story of a little girl named Charu who is scared of pulling out her loose tooth. While Charu and her mother are at the dentist, her brother and his friends get together to bake biscuits. Upon returning home, Charu eats the biscuits and something happens to her loose tooth. Read the story to find out how Charu becomes toothless.

Author

Krishnadip Sigdel

Krishna Dip Sigdel has been working as teacher, a journalist and an editor in various magazine and papers. He has translated many famous fairy tales, works of Shakespeare and Aesop's fables. He has also published Little Scholar's Essays and Letters, a collection of essays and letters for the children of 10-13 years of age.

Illustrator

Yuwak Shrestha

Yuwak Shrestha has been illustrating children books and magazines for more than a decade. Previously he has illustrated 'Sani Le Runa Birsin' and 'Sani Ra Suri' for Room to Read. He was recently awarded the 'Best Illustrator Award 2061 B.S.', for his work for the book 'Sani Ra Suri!' from Nepalese Society for Children Literature. He is currently associated with Crow Quill.

ISBN 979-8-4000-0071-3

World Change Starts with Educated Children.®

Toothless Charu

